Guidelines for NonFenure Track Promotions (2019)

Although the procedures for theomotion of non-tenure track faculty are less elaborate than those for the enure and promotion of the enure track faculty, the review and decision aking procedures should be fair, respectful of the experience of the candidates, and adhere to appropriate high academic and professional standards as in all faculty reviews at the University.

Departments may develop their own specific procedures for reviewing-nuretrackfaculty members for promotion. Some may appoint an tenuretrackfaculty committee, while others may assign the task to their existipus motion and enurecommittee. It is important, however, that the same type of procedure be followed for all tenuretrackpromotion cases from a particular department.

Any non-tenuretrack faculty member recommended formomotion would be asked to prepare a dossiercontaining a statement of the candidate's teaching gradent CV, and supporting materials as necessary to demonstrate excellence in teaching and service.

A complete promotion dossiehould include the following:

- 1. The candidate's CV
- 2. A brief report on departmental procedures followed in the war of the candidate; department's evaluation of the candidate's teaching and service, a description of the candidate's contribution to the distinctive mission of the University, the department's recommendation regarding promotion, and the department was own recommendations regarding motion;
- 3. No external letters are required, but the departrmenytinclude such letters if they deem them to be especially pertinent
- 4. A statement by the candidate of the candidate's teaching goals and activities at Boston College and statement by the candidate of the candidate's service contributions
- 5. Evaluation of the candidate's teaching based on class visits by departmental colleagues and,
